

Q: Is SIMCOM closing or planning to close?

A: No. All SIMCOM locations continue to operate to provide aviation training as essential transportation related services to its customers; although SIMCOM employees not involved directly in delivery of training services are working from home where possible to minimize physical contact with customers and other employees. Should this change, SIMCOM will pro-actively notify all of its customers individually with full details.

Q: Can I cancel or postpone my class because of coronavirus concerns without any penalty?

A: Yes. Please try to give us as much notice as possible under the circumstances.

Q: Are hand sanitizers and other disinfectants available at SIMCOM?

A: Yes. Hand sanitizers and disinfectants are widely available throughout the building and in every simulator and classroom.

Q: What general procedures is SIMCOM following to combat coronavirus?

A: Currently, the company is requiring all employees who are not directly involved in delivering training services to work from home where possible, and is providing all employees with ongoing informational and educational updates regarding best COVID-19 practices. We are also practicing social distancing to the maximum extent possible and we have made hand sanitizers and other disinfectants widely available for our customers and employees throughout the building. For the past several weeks we have been sanitizing simulators and classrooms on a daily basis, and more frequently upon request. SIMCOM is also continuously monitoring updates and guidance from the CDC, OSHA and local authorities, as well as tracking the number of incidences of COVID-19 in the Orlando and Phoenix metro areas.

Q: Can I switch my scheduled training from SIMCOM Orlando to SIMCOM Scottsdale (or vice versa) as it would involve less travel for me?

A: Yes, subject to program availability and scheduling.

Q: Are local hotels and restaurants open?

A: Yes, the majority of local hotels are still open and accepting reservations. Restaurants are open for take-out, drive-thru and delivery.

Q: Do any SIMCOM employees or customers have COVID-19?

A: Not to our knowledge. So far we have not had any SIMCOM employees or customers with any diagnosis of COVID-19. We will continue to monitor this to the best of our ability and update you as necessary.
